Chapter 7 of the Constitution of Kenya delves into the integral role of public participation in the management of public finances within the country. This segment of the Constitution scrutinizes several key aspects:

- (i) The constitutional and legislative avenues for public involvement in financial matters in Kenya.
- (ii) (ii) Effective mechanisms through which the public can engage in fiscal affairs.
- (iii) (iii) Recommendations aimed at bolstering public participation in the decision-making processes regarding fiscal matters.

The Constitution, alongside the Public Finance Management (PFM) Act of 2012, presents a unique opportunity to amplify the involvement of citizens in the management of public finances across Kenya. Chapter Twelve of the Constitution specifically addresses Public Finance, with Article 201 introducing fundamental principles of public finance. These principles include openness, accountability, and the inclusion of the public in financial deliberations. Adhering strictly to these principles could enhance policy formulation and the prudent management of public resources, ultimately improving the livelihoods of many Kenyans.

Moreover, both the Constitution of Kenya 2010 and the PFM Act of 2012 guarantee public participation in planning, budgeting, and oversight at both the national and county government levels. Sections 35(1) and 125 of the PFM Act delineate the various stages in the budgetary process at the national and county government levels, respectively, for any given financial year. Despite the existence of these avenues, effective citizen participation in fiscal decision-making may be hindered by various factors.

For instance, the enactment of the Constitution of Kenya 2010 ushered in significant changes in the framework for public finance management. Notably, Chapter Twelve of the Constitution, particularly Article 201, outlines principles of public finance, emphasizing transparency, equitable distribution of resources, responsible financial management, and clear fiscal reporting.

In Kilifi County, public participation has been actively pursued through public hearing forums during the formulation of county plans and the preparation of expenditure frameworks.

Towards this end, this is a report on the submission of proposals for the Kilifi County Annual Development Plan, the financial year 2025/2026 by the people of Kilifi County held across all 35 Wards.

The county government of Kilifi is dedicated to Transforming its Development Vision to Reality by focusing on the key strategic areas. The Annual Development Plan (ADP) 2025/2026 outlines the following thematic areas to ensure comprehensive and sustainable growth as follows: -

- i. Enhance Food Security
- ii. Water Infrastructure Enhancement
- iii. Health System Strengthening
- iv. Local Economic Development
- v. Transport and Connectivity Enhancement
- vi. Tourism Development
- vii. Early Childhood Education Development (ECDE) Equipping & Digitalization
- viii. Environmental Conservation and Natural Resource Protection.

More projects from the members of the public will be considered for implementation in the fiscal year 2025/2026 across all county departments including the Department of Health Services, Roads and Transport, Early Childhood Education and Vocational Training. These projects will be communicated to the members of the Public in due course.

RECOMMENDATIONS/ ISSUES RAISED

- Timely Distribution of Farm Inputs: Fertilizers and seeds are often distributed late, arriving after the farming season has ended. There is a need for timely and efficient distribution of these inputs to ensure they reach farmers at the right time.
- Insufficient Seeds: The current supply of seeds is inadequate for the needs of the farmers. More seeds should be made available to ensure sufficient planting material.
- Non-Political Distribution Mechanism: The distribution of farm products is often influenced by political interests, which results in many deserving farmers missing out. A fair distribution mechanism should be established, preferably managed by administrators rather than politicians.
- Variety of Fertilizers: Fertilizers should be available in two main types: CAN (Calcium Ammonium Nitrate) and DAP (Diammonium Phosphate) to cater to different soil and crop needs.
- Availability of Tractors: There is a shortage of tractors. It is proposed that each be equipped with a tractor at an affordable price to support local farming.
- Farmer Training and Capacity Building: Farmers need better training on modern farming methods and the proper use of fertilizers and seeds. Many improved breeds of livestock have perished due to insufficient capacity building.
- Support for Agricultural Extension Officers: Agricultural extension officers should be adequately supported to reach out to farmers in rural areas effectively.
- Access to Wezesha Fund: The requirements to access the Wezesha Fund are overly stringent, making it difficult for farmers and small businesses to benefit. Simplifying these requirements could improve access.
- Inadequate Health Resources: Health facilities are suffering from a shortage of drugs and health workers. There is a need to prioritize recruiting more health workers and improving the availability of drugs.
- Shortage of ECDE Caregivers and VTC Trainers: There is a lack of Early Childhood Development Education (ECDE) caregivers and Vocational Training Center (VTC) trainers. Prioritizing the recruitment of more teachers and trainers is essential.
- Focus on Existing Facilities: The county should concentrate on equipping and completing existing facilities such as ECDE centers, VTCs, and health centers before embarking on the construction of new ones.
- Utilizing VTC Students for Contractors' Work: A policy should be implemented requiring contractors to employ students from local VTCs for tasks such as electrical work, carpentry, and masonry, providing job opportunities and practical experience.
- Water Harvesting in ECDE Schools: Water tanks with gutters should be installed in all ECDE schools to facilitate rainwater harvesting for use in schools.
- Civic Education on Land and Planning: There is a need for increased civic education on land and physical planning to help residents better understand these issues.
- Public Participation in Budgeting: Public participation in the budgeting process should be genuine, with community views and feedback being actively considered rather than treated as a formality.
- Promotion of Talents: The county should develop initiatives to promote and reward local talents, including proper recognition for participants in events like the Governor's Cup.
- Bursary Allocation: The Governor should consider a more inclusive approach to awarding bursaries, not only focusing on national students but also supporting local students in need.
- Revival of Sports Kits: Instead of the Governor's League, which has not effectively impacted local teams and has led to their decline, sports kits should be reinstated to support local sports activities.
- Simplification of Qualification Procedures: The qualification procedures for sports leagues are overly complicated, leaving many teams excluded. Simplifying these procedures would allow more teams to participate.

CONCLUSION

The activity was general successfully. The public have high hopes that this time round their inputs will be considered. This will consequently encourage them and make them readily available to attend such forums in future.
